Forelæsning v/ Ruth Kaaserer

om eget arbejde

The artist Ruth Kaaserer works between the fields of art and cinema. Her videos, photographs and installations are long term projects based on her collaborative work with people. She documents them in their everyday life.

She will present her most recent project Community Garden, an audio-slide installation leading through all four seasons in New York City Community Gardens.

She will also give an idea about her current work in progress, Tough Cookies, a cinema documentary about two female boxers and a stuntwoman living in the US. She followed them with her camera for several years. The documentary format is essential for her work.
